Highlands

Local Choice

The Highlands is geographically the largest whisky region in Scotland. North Highland whiskies are influenced by the coast, soil and tend to be light bodied with a rich and sweet spice. Central, Southern and Eastern Highlands can be often quite diverse. They are generally light bodied, fruity with a dryer finish but not as sweet as the malts found on Speyside.

Tomatin 36 Year Old, 45.1%

£80 / 25ml

The 36 year old edition is vibrant, fruity and floral on the nose, with aromas of tropical fruits layered with winter spices from Oloroso Sherry butts. Winner 'Best Whisky in the World' at the San Fransico Spirits Awards 2023.

Speyside

Speyside malts are typically the sweetest of all single malt whiskies. The huge selection can generally be broken down into two categories. The heavy, rich sherry and the more complex light floral flavoured. Speyside Malts are essentially sweet whiskies, although some can have a little peaty character with just a slight hint of smoke.

The Whisky Collection

Lowland

These tend to be light in body with soft grassy notes, some sweet fruit and a lovely maltiness. They make nice aperitif whiskies which can be an easy introduction to the novice malt drinker, or for those wanting a complex, soft but ethereal malt.

Islay

The island of Islay is usually associated with peaty single malt whiskies. These whiskies are considered to be the strongest flavoured of all single malts, known to be dry, smoky and bursting with flavour. The character of Islay malt whiskies are very often described as being very medicinal, costal and with a dry finish - sometimes with quite a bite.

Islands

Island Malts are produced on the islands around the Scottish Mainland. Though most Island whiskies are salted by the sea, some are sweet and herbal. Due to the location of the Islands distilleries their whiskies tend to have a costal feel to them. They are slightly more peaty in character than most Highland Malts, but not to the extent of Islay malts. The peatiness is generally softer and sweeter than their stronger cousins on Islay.

The Whisky Collection

Campbeltown

Campbeltown lies towards the west coast of Scotland. Their single malts are very distinctive and tend to be full bodied and have a hint of similarities found in Islay Malts.

Glen Scotia, Double Cask Rum Finish 46%	13

Irish

From just across the water comes a completely different dram all together. The Irish were responsible for one of the liquor industry's greatest breakthroughs. Continuous distillation. This meant that a spirit could be produced faster in higher volumes and with greater purity than its counter parts to the east. The result is a lighter, malty, smooth and at times honeyed spirit.

Jameson's Irish Whiskey	7	Tullamore Dew, 12 Yr 40%	9

Japan

Japanese whiskies are crafted in the Scottish style. They lie between Lowland and Speyside in style. Delicate and perfumed with honeyed sweetness. They are described as being smooth with light sherry and floral notes, sometimes they have been peated for a smokey Islay style.

Bourbon/Whiskey

Bourbon takes its name from Bourbon County, Kentucky. 51% of the grain used in making the whisky must be corn and must be aged for a minimum of two years in new charred oak barrels and nothing can be added to the bottling except spring water. Rye Whisky is by law made from mash of at least 51% rye. Other ingredients of the mash are usually corn and malted barley.
